Listening A () [Track 14]

- Janet: I can't believe it. I'm graduating from college in June, and I'm going to law school in Boston next year. I know I should be excited, but I'm not. Maybe law school will be too challenging. Maybe I won't do well in my classes. Maybe I won't make any new friends. I live at home with my parents now, and I've never lived anywhere else. I'm embarrassed to say it, but I'm a little scared about my future.
- Barry: I moved here in June, and things are going pretty well for me. Fortunately, my new job is a lot more interesting than my old job, and my boss gives me challenging work. That means I'm busy all the time, and that's a good thing for me. One bad thing is that I travel a lot for my job. I don't mind doing this, but it means I haven't made many new friends here. I call my old friends a lot, and they call me, but it's different because they're not here.

Listening B () [Track 15]

Evan: Hello?

- Gina: Hi, Evan. It's Gina. Is Rachel home?
- Evan: Hey, Gina. No, sorry. Rachel's out right now. She needed to do a few things before we leave for Mexico on Monday. She's just gone out to pick up a few things, like sunscreen and extra cat food.
- Gina: Extra cat food? Are you taking the cats with you?
- Evan: Uh, no. My sister always stays at our house and feeds the cats while Rachel and I are away. We like to leave lots of food for them they can eat a lot in three weeks.
- Gina: Three weeks?! Have you ever been away that long?
- Evan: Actually, yes. We went camping in California for a month when we got married, but this will be our longest trip outside the U.S.
- Gina: Well, I'm sure you'll both have a good time. Give your sister my phone number. If she needs help, she can call me.
- Evan: That's really nice of you. Thanks.
- Gina: By the way, Rachel told me you might need a ride to the airport.
- Evan: Not to the airport, from the airport.
- Gina: Oh, would you like me to pick you up? When are you coming back?
- Evan: On the 17th. Our flight arrives at 5:00 p.m.
- Gina: OK. I'll be there.
- Evan: Thank you so much, Gina. That is really great.
- Gina: No problem. And, if I don't talk to you again, have a great trip!
- Evan: Thanks.
