A Lucy, Michael, and Sylvie are talking. Listen and check the correct answers.

LUCY: Good morning, Michael.

MICHAEL: Hi, Lucy. How's it going?

LUCY: Pretty good, thanks. How about you?

MICHAEL: Great! Hey, who's your friend?

LUCY: This is Sylvie Marceau. She's from Canada.

MICHAEL: Hi, Sylvie. Nice to meet you. I'm Michael Morse.

SYLVIE: Hi, Michael. It's good to meet you, too.

MICHAEL: I'm sorry, Sylvie, but what's your last name again?

SYLVIE: Oh, it's Marceau.

MICHAEL: How do you spell that?

SYLVIE: M-A-R-C-E-A-U.

MICHAEL: I see. So, you're from Canada. Are you from Toronto?

SYLVIE: No. I'm from Montreal. Where are you from, Michael?

MICHAEL: I'm from Chicago.

LUCY: You know, Sylvie and I are in the same chemistry class this semester.

MICHAEL: Oh, really?

SYLVIE: Yeah. And what do you do, Michael? Are you a student here, too?

MICHAEL: Yes, I am. Lucy and I are in the same math class.

SYLVIE: Oh? Is your class interesting?

MICHAEL: Yes, it is. It's very interesting.

LUCY: And the teacher is really good. By the way, he's from Canada, too! I think he's from Vancouver.

SYLVIE: Really?

MICHAEL: Listen, I'm on my way to the cafeteria now. I have about 20 minutes before my English class starts. Are you free?

LUCY: Sure! Let's go and get some coffee. OK, Sylvie?

SYLVIE: Sounds great!
