Yesterday the children wanted to go walking with me. We got up early. It was a lovely day and we walked through some villages, singing all the time. I saw some trees. It was a good place for picnic. We sat there and ate our bread and cheese. After the lunch we walked through the fields but it was a mistake! I didn't see the path and I fell to the lake! The water was very cold and when I got out my face was blue. Now I've got a cold.

It was Kate's birthday. She invited her friend Lisa to the party. She invited two other friends too. Kate had a lovely big cake and she got great presents. She got some roller skates, a book about butterflies and a pencil case. The pencil case was her favorite present. At half past nine in the evening, Kate and her three friends got into her dad's car. He drove to the forest and then they all got out. 'We're going on a night walk' he said. It was dark but they could see because they all had their torches. They walked through the forest, looking for night animals. Suddenly Kate's uncle jumped out from behind a tree. The children jumped. They were scared. 'You frightened us' said Kate. 'That was a horrible trick.' 'Sorry.' said Kate's dad. 'Let's look for some real animals in the forest now.'
